Rural Water Association

About CRWA

Dedicated to advocating for, assisting and training California's rural water and wastewater systems.

Incorporated in 1990, California Rural Water Association (CRWA) has emerged as the state's leading association dedicated to providing on-site technical assistance and specialized training for rural water and wastewater systems. Tapping into the expertise of experienced water and wastewater professionals, CRWA's governing Board of Directors, administrative staff, and technical field specialists work in concert to offer CRWA members an expansive range of essential programs and member services.

CRWA is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization committed to serving the needs of rural water and wastewater systems. Approximately 80 percent of our annual budget is supported by Federal and State grants. The other 20 percent is generated by participation in our other member services.

Whether a system needs help developing a new rate schedule, setting up proper testing methods, understanding those ever-changing and complex government regulations, preparing a Consumer Confidence Report (CCR), or updating operator certification requirements, California Rural Water Association is ready with assistance.

CRWA Associate Member Benefits

California Water Journal – A quarterly publication designed to keep members up-to-date on available trainings, the latest technology, innovative solutions to water and wastewater problems, and the latest regulations. More than 1,000 members receive the California Water Journal with a readership well over 4,500 operators, regulators, and industry professionals.

Reduced Advertising Rates – Advertisements in the California Water Journal and Membership Directory are available in business card, ¼ page, ½ page, and full page sizes. Please contact Mike Ross from our partners at Naylor - mross@naylor.com.

Reduced Exhibitor Fees at Conferences – The Education & Exhibitor Expo is a great way to show off your products and network with water and wastewater system operators, managers, and directors. Hundreds of water and wastewater system personnel attend our conferences to earn necessary contact hours and network with peers and vendors.

Web Link – A direct link on the CRWA website, www.calruralwater.org

Referrals – Every day, system members and nonmembers alike contact CRWA looking for service referrals. Referrals are always given from our associate members list.

Membership Directory – Receive a free Membership Directory to help you get in touch with CRWA system members.

Professionalism & Excellence – Receive automatic confidence from prospective clients based on your relationship with CRWA.

Industry News & Legislative Information and Advocacy – CRWA Board and Staff advocate for members in California and work with the National Rural Water Association at the Federal level.
